

NIA, S. 138, 141 - Amendment of complaint - Wrong cheque number mentioned in the complaint and affidavit - Cheque, return memo and notice which were presented along the complaint bear the cheque number which the petitioner now wants to correct - Court below while taking cognizance should be vigilant that complaint and affidavit should contain the same cheque number which has been placed on record - Mistake is bonafide seems to be true - Petitioner wants to rectify his bonafide mistake - When complainant has been cross examined, the mistake came to the notice of complainant and application for the rectification has been moved - Petitioner is allowed to make necessary amendments in the complaint as about the details of bounced cheque and he is allowed to file a fresh affidavit in support of his complaint and the respondent is free to cross examine on the same.

PLRonline 316502

Oswal Finlease Private Limited v. State of Rajasthan, 2014 PLRonline 0205

2014-PLRonline-0205Download