

Abuse of the process of the court – An abuse of the process of the court may be committed by the court or by a party – Where a court employed a procedure in doing something which it never intended to do and there is an abuse of the process of the court it can be corrected.

Privy Council in Debi Bakhsh Singh v. Habib Shah [ILR (1913) 35 All 331], followed in A.R. Antulay v. R.S. Nayak, (1988) 2 SCC 602.

read HERE

PLRonline 1461501