

Co-owner in exclusive possession is entitled to protect his possession against forcible intervention by other co-sharers except in due course of law namely seeking partition of the joint land

Suit for injunction – A co-owner in exclusive possession is entitled to protect his possession against forcible intervention by other co-sharers except in due course of law namely seeking partition of the joint land – The appellants -plaintiffs being in exclusive possession of suit land as proprietors of aforesaid land are entitled to protect their possession against forcible intervention by the respondents-defendants or other co-sharers of the aforesaid land – Suit filed by the appellants-plaintiffs

Subscribe here to read full note and judgment

Tags: Co-owner