

Civil Procedure Code, 1908 (V of 1908), S. 11 – Res judicata – Suit for injunction filed by the present defendants – The parties as also the suit property, may have been the same, but the matter substantially in issue in the said suit was not in issue in the present suit – The earlier suit was for grant of an injunction whereas the present suit is a title suit and thus, the principle of res judicata would not bar the present suit.
